

Jennifer Daubeny took up her position as Minister (Commercial Affairs) at the Canadian High Commission to India in October 2022. In this role she is responsible for Canada's commercial relations with India, Nepal and Bhutan.

Ms. Daubeny previously served as Canada's Consul General for south India from 2016-2018, based in Bengaluru. Other overseas assignments include serving as Senior Trade Commissioner at Canada's High Commission in London, as Consul and Senior Trade Commissioner in Guadalajara, Mexico, and as Trade Commissioner at the Canadian Embassy in Prague, Czech Republic.

She has also held a range of management positions at Global Affairs Canada headquarters in Ottawa involving: attraction of foreign direct investment; bilateral science, technology and innovation relations; international education; commercial relations with the Middle East and Africa; and trade policy.

Ms. Daubeny has a Bachelor of Arts in International Relations from the University of British Columbia, and a Master of Public Administration degree from the University of Victoria.