Managing Director, Investments, Infrastructure

Prithviraj Grawal is a Managing Director and Chief Investment Officer for India and the Middle East in Brookfield's Infrastructure Group. In this role, he is responsible for all infrastructure investments and strategy in the regions.

Since joining Brookfield in 2011, Mr. Grawal has led and overseen the growth of Brookfield Infrastructure in India by concluding various transactions totaling over $12Bn across multiple infrastructure sectors such as transport, energy, telecom and data centers. This includes the largest private equity transaction by any fund in India through the acquisition of Reliance Industries' telecom tower business. Mr. Grawal also provides strategic guidance to all our Infrastructure Companies in the region as a Director on their Board.

Mr. Grawal has over 12 years of investing experience. Prior to joining Brookfield in 2011, Mr. Grawal was a Vice President with Morgan Stanley Infrastructure Partners.

Mr. Grawal holds a Master of Business Administration from the Indian Institute of Management Bangalore and a Bachelor's degree from the National Institute of Technology Allahabad.
