

Prity Singh is the Managing Director at Elocity in India-- a technology company headquartered in Toronto, Canada. Elocity uses software, smart hardware and data science to address the most pressing challenges around the faster and grid supportive adoption of electric vehicles (EVs).

She's a highly accomplished, dynamic, and award-winning senior executive leader with extensive experience growing teams that drive revenue and claim market share—consistently exceeding quota and performing above expectations. Prity leads the Elocity's growth strategy in India and oversees Elocity's partners and customers relations. She has a proven track record of success managing accounts and developing business across both the Private and public sectors.